The Donofrio Technology Series: Inspiring Kids in Science

WATSON: Jeopardy and Beyond

Don't miss the Ridgefield Library's Inspiring Kids in Science program on Tuesday, May 31 at 7 PM, at Veteran's Park Elementary School in Ridgefield. The presentation will feature two team members who work on IBM's DeepQA artificial intelligence system, more affectionately known as Watson. Come find out how this incredible machine was built and programmed to compete on Jeopardy (and win!) and what real world applications are being dreamed up for the future.

The program is part of the Ridgefield Library's ongoing Donofrio Technology Series: Inspiring Kids in Science, which aims to get kids, especially girls, interested in science and technology. The program is aimed at children in grades 4 and up, but anyone with an interest is invited to attend. Registration is required as space is limited.

Inspiring Kids in Science is made possible thanks to the generosity of the Donofrio family.

Speakers:

Jennifer Chu-Carroll, PhD, Research Staff Member & Manager, IBM TJ Watson Research Center, works on algorithms for identifying relevant question content in order to generate possible answers, as well as on special question processing.

Sugato Bagchi, PhD, Research Staff Member, IBM TJ Watson Research Center, works on adapting DeepQA to provide decision support, especially related to uses in the medical field.
